For the Wee Children!

For younger adventurers, KiddieQuests are available at the Friends of Faire Garden and involve the sighting of pesky gnomes which have plagued the village. Children are also welcomed at the Military Guild where they are invited to form a 'mini-militia' and train in the arts and skills of wielding Elizabethan weaponry and tools from the 1500's. The young 'recruits' participate in a presentation of their newly acquired skills to the Queen herself, at the Royal Joust. The Queen is also often spotted at Kids Kingdom, an area dedicated exclusively to the whims and fancies of the young, and the young at heart. In this special land the magic of Merlin floats like music through the air to mingle with the exciting tales woven by Mistress Inkwell. In this place where dreams come true, a child could become a Knight or Lady of the Kingdom.

School Day '09

Again for 2009, the Original Renaissance Pleasure Faire will host its annual School Day Event, billed as A Field Trip for Teachers and Students filled with History, Fun, and Adventure! During this exclusive day, open only to school groups, students will have the opportunity to interrogate the likes of Captain Sir Francis Drake, regarding his legendary escapades on the High Seas or cheer for their Champion as lances splinter off gleaming shields during the Joust. Students can also observe artisans and craftspeople as they create their works of history and wonder, from the historic to the artistic.

(School Day Tickets are arranged through Sheridan Sechter & Associates, Inc. and not through the Faire Box Office. For information, go to: <http://www.renfair.com/socal/special/schoolday.php>)
